

SAFETY FIRST, JONES ADVISES ON DIVORCE LAWS

Phoenix, Arizona, July 13.—Answering an inquiry whether a woman forced in Oregon, where remarriage is prohibited, can marry in Arizona at that time, attorney general E. Jones today issued an opinion as follows:

In reply will state that, from the rent authorities, it would appear that a marriage is null and void if contracted by a party in Arizona within one year after decree of divorce has been obtained in Arizona. The Wisconsin and New York supreme courts have held such marriage which were contracted within the forbidden by statute and both courts held that they must recognize a law of another state which forbids marriage within a certain time after decree of divorce.

"I should not at all advise a marriage within the time prohibited after decree by the Arizona law. The property rights and the legitimacy of children are such grave matters that I certainly advise that the decree of the state where the decree granted be strictly observed."

Why "Actors Hate Cats."

Speaking at the International Women's Franchise club in London, Miss Horniman, the English theatrical manager, told some entertaining stories of theatrical experiences. Actors can and a good deal, she said, but they hate a cat, for they know that as long as it is on the stage the audience can look at nothing else. Miss Horniman told some amusing stories of the safety cats. Trixie, who was killed in the scene of her public triumphs by the fall of the safety curtain, once pulled the last act of "Hindle Wakes" getting under a table where the actors could not see her, but the audience could, and cheerfully pretending to chase a mouse. Then strolling across to the stage fire, she turned from it with disdain and settled herself for warmth among the footlights. Another cat intruded into a quiet scene of tragic farewell and led the short-sighted lover on a futile chase among the overturning furniture.

FAMOUS JAIL HAS BEEN DESTROYED

Jerome, Ariz., July 13.—Fire destroyed one of the most interesting landmarks of this picturesque mining camp, when the Munds building formerly used as a jail, was burned.

The building, which was occupied as a private residence, was utilized as the city bastille for some years, following the conflagration which in the early days swept the camp and destroyed the jail then in use. For some time after the conflagration, prisoners were tied to telegraph poles in the streets. It was then that Johnny Munds, local peace officer, offered the building to the town at a monthly rental of $10.

A "spiked floor" cell, in which it was impossible for the prisoner to sit or lie down, owing to the hundreds of spikes driven into the floor, was a feature of the Munds jail. It was designed for unruly prisoners who refused to work out their sentences on the streets, but was used only once, as popular opinion was opposed to the practice as savoring too much of barbarism.

No prisoner ever escaped from the Munds jail, it is said, owing to the heavy timbers of which it was constructed.

Do You Educate Your Children?

Most parents provide for their children; some take personal care of their children; but few, indeed, are they who can be forced to take any part in the education of their children, education having become the business of schools, a factory process, turned over entirely to the public. Here and there is a sublime parent who plops doggedly over the alphabet and the algebra, getting an education for himself at this late day; but such are rare, the run of parents putting their babes into the kindergarten or some other educational incubator, while they themselves slip off the educational nest like cuckoos and cowbirds.—Dallas Lore Sharp, in Atlantic Monthly.

Family Shy of Joins.

Dr. C. E. Oddie reports to the Archives of Radiology and Electrotherapy (London) the case of a boy of fourteen whose fingers have only one joint. His mother had similar hands, as have four of her nine children, the fingers of the other five being normal.

Give Your Motor Truck Driver a Tire He Can Depend On

THE man who tells you that motor truck drivers are not interested in the efficient and economical operation of their trucks has never been in a garage when the trucks were coming in from their day's hauls.

Tire splitting and base separation are not things that truck drivers thought up to annoy their employers.

Until the new U. S. Grainless Rubber Solid Truck Tire was created, no way had ever been found to prevent solid tires from splitting. Nor had anyone ever been able to prevent base separation.

As representatives of the oldest and largest rubber company in the world it is our privilege to introduce this new tire to the owners and drivers of this city.

The first solid truck tire ever made that will neither split nor separate from its base.

Give your driver a tire that he can depend on—that he doesn't have to nurse and be thinking of all the time—and watch how much more efficiently your trucks operate.

And how your tire costs go down.

In purchasing a new truck consult us about the type of tires to specify.

This story by Marcus V. Connolly containing a splendid array of supporting talent, beautiful outdoor shots and impressive interior sets, and gives Miss Hammerstein ample opportunity to reveal her versatility. A pleasing drama with many tense situations and replete with suspense and action carrying a human heart interest all through. Also a Ford Weekly.

This great story tells of a perilous fight against heavy odds, carried through to a victorious conclusion by a young American Secret Service agent. Silenced by duty, this young man cannot dispel the doubt about him that fill the heart of the girl he loves. He has grim work to do. His is the task of running to earth a desperate band of criminals. Unexpected twists that will keep you guessing, thrilling and full of suspense. Don't miss it. Also a Comedyart, full of fun and interest.

From the famous novel of Robt. Louis Stevenson, with the acknowledged best actor on the screen in the leading role. A picture that aroused great interest everywhere and enjoyed long and successful runs in all the large cities. The greatest drama of dual identity ever written, enacted by America's greatest living actor, Dr. Jekle—a lover and gentleman—Mr. Hyde—a roguish and a brute—both of them the same man. Two sides of human nature the good and the bad. Also a Bray cartoon and scenic.

The action of the story is intense, taking place entirely on board of ship in the Pacific Ocean and in San Francisco Bay, the sea scenes are most beautiful and wonderfully photographed; the final scenes on a life raft in mid-ocean revealing the wonders of the motion picture possibilities. On the whole this photoplay is one of Madeline Traverse's best. A tale of ocean pirates and love, full of suspense and thrills. Also, another of Martin Johnson's interesting scenes from the South Sea.

The tale of a jigger who put the J in jazz. "Ves" Tibble his name. Hicksville his station. But the Gods had given him syncopeated feet. One day he struck New York. His regular job was brushing the dust from Enoch's moth-eaten rug business, for a dollar a day and experience. His secret side line was a "Pierre and la Peonie" dance in Broadway's classiest cabaret. A laughing picture with a heart of gold. If you want enjoyment don't miss this. Also a slapstick comedy.

Another Robert Louis Stevenson story which has been very widely read and is very popular. A roaring romance for boys and girls, betwixt nine and ninety. Wicked pirates and buried gold, deeds that make the blood run cold; tallest tale that ever was told, yo-ho-ho, and a bottle of rum. The combination of such an author as Robert Louis Stevenson and such a producer as Maurice Tourneur is enough to guarantee a wonderful picture. Also a 2 part Mack Sennett slapstick comedy.

A mystery romance that is different—and thrilling, beyond belief. A romance of life beneath the surface of things as they seem to be, creeping into New York's secret places—behind her social masquerade—into the inner hearts and loves of her ladies, her gentlemen, her knaves. A city of unknown faces—hurry past—lost. Where your next door neighbor may be a genius, a prince, or a gun man—but always a mystery. Such is the theme of this strangely luring picture. Also a chapter of the favorite, "Silent Avenger."
